HAWKESBURY WELCOMES NEW PROBATIONARY CONSTABLES

4 new probationary constables will commence duties in Hawkesbury after they attested at a formal ceremony at the Goulburn Police Academy.

Member for Hawkesbury, Robyn Preston MP welcomed the new police officers who have joined the local Police Area Commands.

“I would like to congratulate the new recruits who will be an asset to the Hawkesbury police force,” Ms Preston said.

“Our new recruits have chosen a career of service which require them to put themselves at the front line of protecting our community every day.”

Deputy Premier and Minister for Police Paul Toole congratulated the newest recruits in Goulburn.

“The students of Class 352 have committed themselves to eight months of training at the Police Academy and should be acknowledged for their achievements,” Mr Toole said.

“Our current police officers across the state will welcome the new probationary constables over the coming weeks as they join the beat in regional, rural and metro communities.

“The NSW Government is proud to offer its continued support to the NSW Police Force as we strive to keep the people of NSW safe.”

The NSW Government announced in 2019 the delivery of 1500 additional officers over four years to enhance community safety across NSW.

Class 352 includes 142 men and 60 women from all ages, backgrounds and regions across the state and country.
