100 DAYS OF BROKEN PROMISES AND WRONG PRIORITIES

After 100 days in office, the Labor Government is continuing to shift blame for its broken promises and wrong priorities.

Member for Hawkesbury Robyn Preston MP said the Labor Government's first 100 days have been characterised by dozens of reviews and taskforces, the slashing of vital cost of living programs and lies about a Budget black hole.

"Chris Minns needs to take responsibility for the fact that Hawkesbury households and families are paying more," Ms Preston said.

"Chris Minns has been Premier for 100 days now and I'm calling on him to explain how he will address the cost of living pressures faced by our community.

"Over the past 100 days Labor has backflipped on many issues, showing blatant disregard for the promises they made before the election and repealing the Liberal and Nationals Government's nation-leading reforms like the First Home Buyer Choice scheme.

"We will continue to hold the Labor Government to account and ensure that people in Hawkesbury are put first."

Broken promises in Labor's first 100 days:

- Cutting the Active Kids, Creative Kids and First Lap vouchers
- Backflipping on a ban of secret rent bidding
- No Budget impact to deliver public servant pay rises
- No privatisation of government-owned land
- No disruptions to train services
- Ending industrial action and Union strikes
- Enshrining our State's water assets in the Constitution, but leaving out critical infrastructure like Warragamba Dam
- Implementing a cashless gaming trial by July 1
- Preventing mining and exploration off the NSW coastline
